What You'll Need for Camp

1. An instrument (or two)
2. All the accessories you might need: at least one set of extra strings, capos, an electronic tuner. Banjo players: make sure you have all the little screwdrivers and wrenches you need to adjust your hardware. Fiddle players, make sure you have rosin.
3. A music stand for viewing handouts
4. A stable wifi or cellular connection
5. A notebook!

Recommendations on Choosing Classes

Suwannee Banjo Camp offers over 100 classes (or sessions) over the course of our two-day program. You are bound to have scheduling conflicts! Follow your instincts to make your selections, but remember that videos of all classes will be available at your viewing leisure until May 1, 2021.

Be diverse in choosing your live instructor. The beauty of going virtual is that there's less reason to feel intimidated! From the comfort of your own home (or virtual campus spot) you can learn from the best instructors.

Other Kinds of Classes

This may be primarily a 5-string banjo camp, but we will also offer instruction in guitar, old time fiddle and mandolin. Check this year's schedule for more information.

How to Register For and Access Virtual Campus

Head on over to <https://suwanneebanjocamp.regfox.com/sbc> to register and pay for your camp access. You will receive a confirmation email including your questionnaire answers and payment receipt. Within about 7 business days, you will receive another confirmation email inviting you to Virtual Campus on Whova.com.

Once you click the "Welcome to Virtual Camp", you'll be prompted to "login" or "sign up". For those new to Whova, you'll need your name and the email you used to register for camp to create a Whova account. If you're already familiar with Whova - not to worry! You can use your already established Whova account login and the access code from the second confirmation email. After you've created your Whova account, login!

On our virtual campus, you'll find our Camp Schedule/Agenda and our list of Faculty or "Speakers" on the left hand side of the page. We encourage you to familiarize yourself with the Whova platform so that when camp comes, you'll know how to build your schedule, ask questions, chat with other attendees/campers, and join our photo and caption contests.
